Who Is The Federal Monitor?

Powers of the Monitor

- In 2013, a federal court found that the NYPD's stopand-frisk and trespass enforcement practices were unconstitutional.
- The court appointed the Federal Monitor and gave it power to oversee the NYPD's implementation of reforms ordered by the court and to report to the court on progress.
- The Monitor is an extension of the court and has the authority to address issues covered in the judge's orders, such as training, accountability, and Fourteenth Amendment compliance.

Monitor Team

- The court-appointed Federal Monitor is Mylan Denerstein, a lawyer with a long background in public service and civil rights. The Deputy Monitor is Richard Jerome.
- The other team members are Anthony Braga, Demonsthenes Long, James McCabe, Jane Perlov, Jennifer Eberhardt, Jim Yates, John MacDonald, and Rudolph Hall.
- Together, the team reviews data such as bodyworn camera footage and stop and frisk data.

What Does The Federal Monitor Do?

- 1. The Monitor works to reform NYPD policies; oversee the NYPD's stops, frisks, searches and trespass enforcement practices; and identify noncompliant NYPD practices and hold supervisors accountable.
- 2. The team reviews NYPD's body-worn camera videos and stop and frisk data, and generates reports documenting whether the NYPD is complying with the court's orders.
- 3. The team audits police stops to determine if stops are constitutional.

Find out more about the Monitor at nypdmonitor.org. You can also reach the Monitor team by email at nypdmonitor@gmail.com or on social media: facebook.com/nypdmonitor twitter.com/nypdmonitor instagram.com/nypdmonitor

Find out more about the Community Liaison at officeofthecommunityliaison.com. You can also reach the Community Liaison on social media: facebook.com/officeofthecommunityliaison twitter.com/cmtyliaison instagram.com/officeofthecommunityliaison

Know Your Rights

Your rights

- Police can ask you certain questions and take certain actions if you are in a public place or car.
- The circumstances of the encounter determine what the police can do. There are four levels of encounters.
  - Level 1: If the officer has a reason to approach you, they can ask you general, non-accusatory questions. You are free to leave.
  - Level 2: If the officer is suspicious that you're engaging in wrongdoing based on their observations of you, they can ask more extended and pointed questions. They may request a search; you may decline that search. You are free to leave or refuse to answer questions.
- Level 3: If the officer is reasonably suspicious that you have committed or are about to commit a crime, the officer can stop and frisk you, handcuff you, or follow you. You are not free to leave but you do not have to answer questions. The officer can only frisk you if they believe you are armed and dangerous.
- Level 4: Police can arrest you if they have probable cause to believe that you have committed a crime. You can be detained until you are identified.
- At all times, officers' identification numbers must be available, and their body cameras should be turned on during encounters.

Reach out to the community liaison if you have concerns about NYPD's stop and frisk practices: Visit officeofthecommunityliaison.com/contact or email: community.liaisonnyc@gmail.com

You can also file a complaint directly with the Civilian Complaint Review Board. The Board is required to investigate any complaint.

Resources

Reach out to the community liaison if you have concerns about NYPD's stop and frisk practices:

Visit officeofthecommunityliaison.com/contact or email: community.liaisonnyc@gmail.com.

You can also file a complaint directly with the Civilian Complaint Review Board. The Board is required to investigate any complaint.

Contacts

Website nypdmonitor.org

Email nypdmonitor@gmail.com

Social Media

- facebook.com/nypdmonitor
- X twitter.com/nypdmonitor
- (instagram.com/nypdmonitor

NYPD MONITOR

NYPD Monitor: Who We Are and What We Do

